

Tiratisu and there shall be no evil

Enter the 1-2-3 tiratisu smallest stairway up, win the race for the hour of power with this able appless method for pulling oneself up out of the clay and get an almost magically brighter sight as if you'd have vaporwave filter glasses.

1. Be Calm.
2. Love All.
3. Give, Live.

Sounds simple? Calm is essential, park your car. Love all for all is growing like trees. Keep prana up!

Some rhythm would be nice. God gives the beat. Live with the sunlight. Take 3 minutes of focus each morning. When successful in not losing focus for 3 minutes 3 days in a row, add 3 minutes and repeat this until the hour of power is reached. Use this calm. See the world. There is no evil. There are adventurers and lost children. Let's move on to the next level.

Say no evil for one week or go back to step 1. When good on that, hear no evil for a week, in nothing and no one. It's just visions. Don't ignore! Learn to hear freely. Speak cleanly. When rolling well on this track, with a clean mouth and open ears, see the world has no evil. Love it all. When you love it all you are ready to live. Welcome out of the clay. You have tiratisued and see the light. In each action you will find giving, see and live, give and grow!
